Win Your Way to CEA!
Classroom Nightmares

You’ve all seen Gordon Ramsay’s Kitchen Nightmares, the show where he visits restaurants on the brink of closing and helps turn it around. Do you have a tactic on how to address and solve a “classroom nightmare” for an educator? Four people will be chosen to present their winning idea in front of all of the convention’s attendees!

4 Winners will receive
- Registration to the CEA Annual Convention, July 25-28, 2014 ($275 value!)
- Round-trip airfare to Ft. Lauderdale, Florida
- 4-night hotel accommodations at the Westin Diplomat Resort & Spa ($600+ value!)

Winners will be expected to
- Present their idea (in front of approx. 700 people) on Sunday, July 27
- Use Power Point
- Present for exactly 9 minutes (it is important that the presentation is a full 9 minutes and doesn’t go over. Practice, practice, practice!)

Classroom Nightmare ideas
- Students arriving late, interruptions, student cliques, cellphones, dress codes, know-it-alls, ADD/ADHD students, unprepared students, teaching bacteriology, sub-ing last minute and not having time to prepare, technical problems (Power Point, etc.), aggressive clients on the salon floor, over-aggressive parents, an auditor shows up!
- Or come up with your own! You’re a teacher. You know the nightmares better than anyone!

How to enter
- Email your entry to jenn@beautyschools.org. Include:
  - Name
  - Phone number
  - School you teach at (and address of school)
  - Short bio
  - Classroom Nightmare
  - A description on what you plan to present. You don’t have to go too far in depth, but be sure to tell us how you’ve been successful at tackling this nightmare with some easy takeaways for your fellow educators.
  - Email Subject line should be: Kitchen Nightmares, Your Name

- Be sure that your “nightmare” is a full 9-minute presentation. You’ll need to provide a Power Point to accompany your presentation closer to the convention, so think about what would be visually appealing.

- Send your submission no later than Wednesday, April 2.

- Winners will be notified no later than April 11. If you don’t win, be sure to register for CEA so that you can still be a part of this exciting weekend!
